The State Law Library has a collection of over 135,000 legal and law related items: books, microform, CDs and tapes. The Library's holdings include statutes and court cases for all 50 states and the federal government, as well as federal regulatory and administrative materials. Legal periodicals, all states' bar journals, loose leaf services, treatises, legal form books, and other materials that aid in the composition, application, practice; and interpretation of law are available. It is a full depository for all State Justice Institute reports and a selective depository for U.S. government publications.

The Law Library's Montana legal collection includes legislative bills, minutes, interim committee reports, Montana Supreme Court opinions and briefs, territorial and state codes, sessions laws, administrative rules, Constitutional convention proceedings and reports, Attorney General's opinions, and publications of the State Bar of Montana are also available.

The Law Library is open to the public from 8 a. m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. on Saturdays. Most materials may be checked out and legislative staffs may establish photocopy accounts. There are several legal reference librarians available to assist you with research in print and electronic formats, as well as provide instruction in legal research methods, online database and Internet searching, and classes in legislative process and intent.

The Statewide Library Resources (SLR) section provides strong general reference collections, a depository of all state publications, and a partial depository of federal publications. Six state and four national daily newspapers are received. SLR also provides consulting services and assists with the improvement of library services statewide.

The Montana Talking Book Library provides free library service to all Montana citizens who are blind, visually impaired, physically handicapped, or learning disabled as a result of organic dysfunction. This portion of the library is affiliated with the Library of Congress' National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

The Natural Resource Information System (NRIS), provides comprehensive access to information about Montana's natural resources to all Montanans through the acquisition, storage, retrieval, and dissemination of that information in meaningful form. The three components of NRIS are: the Water Information System provides information on topics such as water quality, groundwater, surface water, water rights, climate data, and more; the Geographic Information System provides map data and technical assistance for the growing number of users of computerized mapping programs; the Natural Heritage Program focuses on biodiversity information, plants, animals and natural communities emphasizing those that are rare, threatened or endangered.

The Census and Economic Information Center (CEIC), the official source of census data for Montana, maintains a collection of documents and computer-retrievable files that address the economy and population of the state (historical as well as current), including special papers and annual, quarterly and monthly statistical reports from federal agencies and other Montana state agencies.

CEIC is lead agency for Montana in the U.S. Bureau of the Census State Data Center and Business/Industry Data Center programs and is a member of the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis User Group. CEIC is the state agency designated to provide user access to machine-readable data from the Census Bureau and to receive, reproduce, and distribute maps produced by the Bureau. CEIC provides assistance in the selection and application of appropriate data series as well as referral to other resources as needed.

Compiled by CEIC, the Montana County Statistical Reports are a collection of demographic and socioeconomic data for the state of Montana and each of its 56 counties. Clients have access to statistics encompassing ten broad subject categories for each county and for the state. The Reports are updated on a regular basis as more recent statistics become available. Source materials for the Reports are also available.
